SOVIETS DRAIN EASTERN GERMANY OF FOOD AND COAL

Pay Starvation Wages and Yet Expect to Boost Production

FOOD IS SCARCE

Average German Family Gets Third of Loaf Of Bread

The Soviets drain Eastern Germany of food and coal, pay starvation wages and yet expect to raise German production.

So writes Richard S. Weil, Berlin bureau chief of International News Service, who has just returned to Berlin after roaming through the Russian controlled area of Germany, undetected by Russian secret agents.

In a series of seven stories, of which this is the third, Weil lays bare, from first hand information, the story of what the Russians are doing behind the Iron Curtain.

BERLIN, Feb. 2—(INS)—To the downtrodden inhabitants of Russian-conquered Germany, blockaded Berlin with all of its hardships, appears as the "Golden West."

For life in the beleaguered capital, supplied only with bare essentials brought in by the Allied airlift, is nevertheless amazingly better than the destitution and endless privations of the East Germans.

"Even the war was ten times better," people everywhere told this correspondent during his clandestine trip through the Soviet area.

Food is scarce, and rations for essential and non-essential workers alike are far below minimum standards.

The average East German today receives a third of a loaf of black bread daily, a teaspoon each of fat and sugar and half as much ersatz coffee.

In addition he is entitled to three teaspoons of artificial jelly, a similar amount of "living items" such as noodles or macaroni and a pound of potatoes.

The meat ration provides for a chip about as large as a U. S. half-dollar piece, but this is usually unavailable. Instead there are the substitutes of an equal quantity of fish or, extremely rare, cheese.

Milk is limited to a pint a day for youngsters under six.

Although East Germany is rich in coal, there is very little to be had for the East Germans.

Two hundredweights have been distributed to each person so far this year. A third hundredweight has been announced but never received.

Equally bad is the scarcity of such vital items as clothing.

Early this year the Soviets introduced a widely - propagandized clothing ration card which, in reality, is virtually worthless.

Workers, the only group to whom the cards have been issued, are permitted a hundred points per person a year. A suit requires eighty, an overcoat ninety, and a dress about the same.

Moreover, because the points are validated at the rate of only ten a month, these items won't be available until next summer.

Electricity and gas are theoretically available 24 hours a day. Actually rationing is so strict that both can be used only a small fraction of the time.

The allowable amount of gas, for example, is insufficient to cook even three meals a day for one family of three.

YARDLEY TAXPAYERS QUESTION VALUATIONS

Want To Know How Assessment Values Compare

PLAN TO MAKE SURVEY

YARDLEY, Feb. 2 — Taxpayers here want to know whether property values for taxation are too high, or too low, before they will go along on a proposed increase in the tax rate without a protest.

At a public hearing before the Borough Council Thursday night to study the proposed 1949 budget item by item, a citizens group adopted a resolution, asking for a survey of property values.

The proposal was offered by George R. Schmidt of 1 Letchworth Avenue, who said he believed some values were too high and some too low in comparison with those for comparable properties in Doylestown.

The new budget, totaling $22,875, was drafted by the Council to include an increase of 10 cents in the tax rate over last year. It has been $1.60 a $100 of property value.

The council received the support of the gathering for its decision last year to operate a garbage and ash collection service rather than provide it under contract. Citizens said they had found the more frequent collections satisfactory.

There was opposition, however, to a budget item of $150 for placing more road stone on the public parking lot at the rear of the Municipal Building. Speakers, including George Brown of the LaFarge Apartments, Alden Avenue, questioned the value of the increased expenditure since the lot appeared to be used very little. The budget item for the lot maintenance last year was $81.24.

A vote by the audience rejected the proposed increase after Brown termed the expenditure "a luxury". It was suggested in discussion that the Council abandon the lot.

The tax rate increase proposed is represented in five cents for the borough library and five cents for a bond sinking fund.

The Council will consider the suggestions from the meeting before final action on the budget at its February meeting. At the conclusion of the session last night, the audience gave the Council a vote of confidence. Burgess Algernon Cadwallader opened the meeting and George Bennett, Council president, served as chairman.

EXONERATE BRUCKS OF CRIMINAL NEGLIGENCE

John Brucks, Jr., Cornwells Heights, Held Blameless For Accident

MAN IS FATALLY HURT

At an inquest held last evening by Coroner J. Alfred Rigby in the Bristol municipal building, John Brucks, Jr., Cornwells Heights, was exonerated from any criminal negligence in the death of Hugh O'Donnell, 65, of Croydon.

Coroner Rigby told the jury that Hugh O'Donnell was struck by a motor vehicle driven by John Brucks on September 24th, 1948, and died in the Harriman Hospital September 28th, 1948, from traumatic shock.

The first witness called was Officer Andrew J. Kutney, Langhorne State Police barracks.

Officer Kutney said that he received a call from the Harriman Hospital telling him that a man had been brought in who had been struck by a car. He proceeded to the hospital and interviewed Brucks, the driver of the car, who said he was on his way home, traveling about 35 miles per hour, when he saw a man on the highway and tried to avoid hitting him, but struck the man with his right front fender. He stopped and gave assistance and then took O'Donnell to the hospital. The officer said that O'Donnell was unable to tell him anything.

Coroner Rigby asked Kutney about what time the accident took place. He replied, at about 9.30 p. m., and it was dark, with the weather being clear. The witness said that he measured skid marks 36 feet before the point of impact. One of the jurors asked, "Just about where was the body lying?" Officer Kutney replied, "About two feet off the north side of the road." Asked if the skid marks were on the correct side of the road, the reply was they were and that they went toward the center of the highway. The point of impact showed that the car was trying to avoid hitting the man. J. Leslie Kilcoyne, Esq., representing Brucks, inquired where the point of impact was. The reply was, a three-lane highway and the point of impact was between the inside and center lane.

Ruth Luciana, Cornwells Heights, said she was an occupant of the car which struck O'Donnell. She said she was looking on the other side of the road and first saw the man as he hit the fender. He seemed to turn around and his head struck the ground, she testified. She said that when she heard the screech of the brakes she looked up and saw the man. She gave the speed of the car as about 30 or 35 miles per hour.

John Brucks, Jr., driver of the car, said he was the operator of the car which struck O'Donnell. Brucks said that he had just gone through Croydon and had his low beam lights on when, just past the Croydon diner on Route 13, he saw a man, dressed in dark clothes, right in front of him. He turned to the center to try to avoid hitting him but hit him with his right front fender. He stated he thought he was about 20 to 25 feet away from the man when he first saw him. He said

PLAN TO ADVANCE MUSIC IN SCHOOLS

Bucks County Music Educators' Association Meet In Doylestown

BOEHM GIVES SUPPORT

The third meeting of the Bucks County Music Educators Association was held in Doylestown recently. The Association consists of all the music supervisors employed in the public schools of Bucks County. The group was organized last Fall to bring about an advancement of music education in the county, according to Helen G. Chew, secretary.

The association has appointed three committees to study the problems of elementary music, junior-senior high school vocal music, and junior-senior high school instrumental music. The results of their research and their recommendations will be compiled and sent to the school administrators of the county.

The association has had Dr. Claude Rosenberry, state superintendent of music, as a guest speaker. Dr. Rosenberry emphasized the fact that the importance of music education is being recognized more and more in the state of Pennsylvania. He said that glee clubs, orchestras, and bands are no longer to be regarded as extra-curricular activities. He informed the group that many colleges are now accepting music credits as computed on the basis of the Carnegie Unit, for college entrance. This is definitely a step forward, it is contended.

Charles H. Boehm, county superintendent of schools, has given his support to the organization. He has urged the music educators to study the existing condition of music education in this county and to present a plan to the school administrators to raise the present standards.

The music educators have posed five major problems that are presenting great obstacles to the ad-

Groundhog Sees Shadow

PUNXSUTAWNEY, Pa.—The Punxsutawney groundhog saw his shadow bright and early today. That means (according to legend) the nation is in for six additional weeks of winter. It was clear and cold with a chill wind from the north when members of the Punxsutawney Groundhog Club arrived on Gooblers Knob atop Canoe Ridge.

Immediately after Brer Groundhog poked his nose out of his marmot's den, it began to snow like all get out. That seems to vouch for the validity of his prediction, the Punxsutawney grundhog's arch rival—the Quarreyville groundhod—agreed.

TEACHER SALARY INCREASES AND NEED FOR MORE ROOM ARE MAIN PROBLEMS BEFORE BRISTOL BORO' SCHOOL BOARD

Increases, Suggested by Pedagogues, Would Mean Total Increase of Approximately $24,000 to $60,000 in Five-Year Period — Board Hesitates About Such Commitments for Five Years Hence.

Increasing teachers' salaries and providing more room for students are two of the questions still plaguing the Bristol school board. These two questions were brought to the fore, last evening, when the board convened in monthly session in the high school building. All members of the board were in attendance with the exception of Mrs. William Harding, who is confined to her home due to a limb injury sustained recently. Robert C. Ruehl, vice president, presided.

A report on recent conferences between the school committee and the teachers' spokesmen, revealed that the pedagogues have suggested a five-year plan of increases. The increases the first year would total approximately $24,000 and in five years $60,000. These increased costs to the board do not include any additional teachers which it might be necessary to engage.

The board, apparently, is of the opinion that some increase is necessary but hesitates about making commitments for five years hence.

The matter is to be given further consideration.

David Hertzler, high school principal, cast further gloom upon the directors when he informed them that 111 additional Bristol Township students are anticipated to enter the Bristol high school with the beginning of the next term. This will make necessary three additional sections and will crowd considerably in the 11th grade. Where to put them is the "$64 question."

The board was asked by Warren P. Snyder, school superintendent, to consider renting space, if it is found that the school buildings are inadequate.

The report of the treasurer, Lee VanGilder, was received and ordered filed.

Reporting for the property committee, Charles Weik, informed the board that a new flag pole had been erected at the Jefferson avenue building. The committee, Mr. Weika stated, had visited the Washington street and Jefferson avenue buildings, and advised certain changes in the lavatories.

Mrs. William Almond, of the school committee, told of visits she and Mrs. Harding had made to the Bath street, Wood street, Washington street buildings and to portions of the Jefferson avenue building. She reported the placing of screen doors on the cafeteria in the high school and the closing of an air duct.

Mr. Snyder told the board that an engineer's appraisal had placed the value of the school buildings at $1,017,500. Another valuation of $1,800,563 had previously been given by another engineer. The valuation is being made for insurance purposes.

The resignation of Mrs. Bertha Bopp, Bath street building, was accepted, to become effective 60 days from January 27th, or sooner if a substitute or permanent teacher is secured. Mrs. Bopp recently sustained a knee injury.

Athletic coaches were given permission to conduct a Gold Medal Basketball Tournament.

Mr. Snyder advised an early accumulation of all facts and data for next year's budget. He said that steps are now being taken to determine the needs in text books and supplies of all kinds. Any major maintenance changes must also be decided in time to include these items in the budget, he informed.

The conducting of a teachers' workshop in September is contemplated. Outside instructors will be engaged and the teachers will participate in committee reports and discussions. If the workshop is DOYLESTOWN, Feb. 2—George Barclay Hawkes, of Bristol, who left a personal estate of $65,000 and upward, and real estate valued at $6,000, bequeathed St. James' Episcopal Church, Bristol, $1,000.

He indicated that he had presented a gift of $7500 perpetual fire insurance to the Bristol Episcopal church and that would also provide care for a family plot.

St. James' Episcopal Church, Bristol, was given $500 in trust to provide care for a family plot. He revoked this latter bequest May 19, 1946.

In a codicil, written Sept. 22, 1919, the following beneficiaries were named: $500, Edwin H. Fowler; $100, John W. Behm, a godson, and Arthur B. Jopson; $500, Anna K. Hawkes and Katherine Hawkes; Thomas G. Hawkes and Jesse H. Hawkes, residue.

In the will, which was executed May 8, 1903, the testator, in case his father predeceased him, bequeathed $1,000 to Church of the Incarnation, Phila., as an endowment fund.

William John Long was given $500 outright, and Edwin Green Hawkes, M. D.; Thomas G. Hawkes were bequeathed two-thirds of the residue with a stipulation for the other third in trust to Jesse H. Hawkes.

Real estate was listed at 2229 Spring Garden street, Philadelphia. The testator died December 30th, 1948.

A SUMMARY OF THE NEWS

President Truman pleaded for a "planned economy" rather than a "controlled economy" to enable the United States to maintain world leadership and avert an economic collapse.

World conditions have improved markedly since last spring, when the Joint Chiefs of Staff sought $30,000,000,000 for military needs, Defense Secretary Forrestal indicated.

Norway informed the Soviet Union that her desire to seek "added security" had prompted her to consider joining a North Atlantic defense grouping.

Calling the present law "all but unworkable," the Displaced Persons Commission asked Congress to remove existing discriminations and to double the present visa quota to 400,000 over four years.

Federal Mediation Director Ching told a Senate committee that the Administration's proposal to return conciliation functions to the Labor Department would be a "step backward." Another Senate committee deferred approval of a bill for $300,000,000 annual Federal aid to education until completion of a companion measure to safeguard the health of school children.

New armistice talks between Israel and all Arab nations at war with her were proposed by acting Mediator Bunche. Israel ended the military rule of the New City of Jerusalem and incorporated it into the state.

Among the European developments, Premier Sophoulis said Greece would decentralize her Government as suggested by the United States mission. Hungary proclaimed herself a "People's Republic," and Max Reimann, Communist leader, was sentenced to prison for attacking Germans who aided the Wesfern occupation powers.

Several Chinese areas, adopting the "Peiping formula," were seeking to make peace with the Communists through civilian committees.

WOMAN AND SMALL DAUGHTER HURLED FROM AUTO BY IMPACT OF A TRUCK; DRIVER OF TRUCK IS UNDER ARREST

MORRISVILLE, Feb. 2—When a milk company truck crashed into the automobile in which they were seated, last evening, a local woman and her young daughter were hurled from the machine and slightly injured. The parked car, in which the two were seated, was pushed into another parked car.

The two, Mrs. Katherine Shartzer, 27, and her daughter Diane, 7, refused hospital treatment. They were taken to the home of Mrs. Shartzer's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Leon Widmann, Moreau street, where the Shartzers are staying.

The truck driver, Owen J. Dunn, 38, Philadelphia, employed by Supplee-Wills-Jones Co., was under arrest ofter Dr. Theodore Cohen pronounced him under the influence of alcohol and unfit to drive.

L. Shartzer, 33, had parked his car on West Bridge street, police state, and crossed the street to shop. His wife and daughter were in the auto, waiting for him.

Parked directly in front of the Shartzer car was the auto of John V. Adams, Langhorne. Mrs. Eleanor Adams, 35, had gone into a store to shop and Adams was waiting for her with their son, John, 4.

While Shartzer and Mrs. Adams were shopping, the truck proceeding west on Bridge street, crashed into the rear of the Shartzer car, driving it into the Adams auto. Then, police said, the truck sideswiped the Adams car, backed up and sideswiped it again.

Immediately after the crash, they added, the truck continued on it way toward Philadelphia.

Cornelius Foose, 28, who was nearby, ran for a car to chase the truck, then notices it had slowed up and stopped.

Foose ran up to the truck, where

ONE MAN'S OPINION

By Walter Kiernan
(Distributed by International News Service)

Nothing has come of Rep. Lane's proposal to televise congress and the alert to Max Factor has been cancelled.

Members who got their pants pressed are now demanding studio time to use up the crease.

A few Democratic Senators favored television but they feared Taft would shine his scalp in Barkley's eyes and blur the picture.

It was decided that daytime audiences would rather watch a homemaker bake and sew than a law maker stew and rip.

But if they ever do televise Congress, thousands of constituents are going to wonder who posed for the campaign posters.

I hear one fellow carried the woman's vote in his district with a picture of Aly Khan after replacing the turban with a derby.

SOMETIMES UNLUCKY

Senator Homer Ferguson's investigating committee has wound up its affairs, but its passing did not go unnoticed. A final report filed by the committee discloses substantial government losses as a result of war surplus shipping sales.

Specifically, the report charges that the Maritime Commission sold the transport Leonard Wood as scrap for $65,750, without knowing it contained lead ballast worth more than $200,000. The report lists another case where a typists' error cost the government $41,000 in a ship sale.

The ships were part of a fleet of 61 vessels sold by competitive bid "where is, as is." The purchaser of the Leonard Wood was a subsidiary of the Henry J. Kaiser Industries, which eventually sold the lead, turning a neat profit of more than $141,000.

Asked to comment on this happy situation, Mr. Kaiser was quick to point out the hazards of bidding competitively for surplus ships. "Sometimes we are fortunate, and sometimes unfortunate," he said. Nothing has been said about refunding the money.

The report also points out that the Maritime Commission is a poor bill collector. The report says that the commission has between $40,000,000 and $60,000,000 in uncollected accounts and claims. A backlog of $16,000,000 has not even been billed. An estimated $50,000,000 in accounts has not been analyzed.

Coming on the heels of White House requests for still higher taxes, this evidence of waste and dereliction makes poor reading. If the Maritime Commission were the only offender the situation would be sufficiently malodorous, but the whole war surplus disposal program has been spotted with similar instances.

Taxpayers will probably be wishing they, like Henry Kaiser, could be fortunate at least some of the time.

50,000 PLANT DISEASES

Dr. Royal J. Haskell, plant pathologist of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, says that plant diseases damage crops to the extent of $2,000,000,000 a year. That is to be compared with about 30 billions as the annual value of all crops. Wherever the farmer's margin of profit is slim, the cut taken out by disease is a serious matter.

It is a wonder that any crops at all can survive all the rots, molds, smuts, blights—not to include the damage done by insect and animal pests—when it is revealed that the diseases alone number 50,000. The natural hardihood of plants must now be aided as far as possible by man's development of chemicals for the farmers to use against the enemy horde. Dr. Haskell paid tribute to Dr. Morris S. Kharasch, chemistry professor at the University of Chicago, who had led development of alkyl mercurial compounds used in treating seeds. It is comforting to know that if the scientist can help it, man will not starve or lack clothing because of uncontrolled plant diseases.

Soviets Drain Eastern Germany of Food and Coal

Excessive use of either gas or electricity is punished by shutting them off from four to eight weeks, and subsequent violations bring fines and even imprisonment.

Aggravating the shortages is the low pay of the workers, who earn an average of 300 marks, or four American dollars a month.

Savings were wiped out by a currency reform last summer, and the peoples factories are preparing to lower wages even further because, say the Soviets, the present scales were originally set too high.

Although consumer items are not available on the ration, they are available in the Russian free stores —and prices are prohibitive.

The free stores, a pure Russian invention to drain off excess spending money, are loaded with goods which the East Germans need desperately but simply cannot afford.

Shoes, for example, cost more than an entire month's wages, and it takes a quarter of a year's pay for a suit.

Rationed food items are also available—coal for ten times the legal price, potatoes for 15 times.

Along with the free stores the Soviets have set up a chain of free restaurants, where meals are supposed to be unrationed.

But the patronage has become so great that the number of ration-free items has been constantly reduced. In Leipzig coupons had to be surrendered for everything from bread to fish.

Leipzig has had more than one taste of such Soviet deception.

Each Spring the Russians stage a mammoth fair with East German products in fabulous array. Germans and foreigners are urged to attend to see for themselves the fruits of Soviet "leadership."

During the fair the people of Leipzig eat well. The free restaurants serve unrationed steaks, and each household receives special allotments of food and fuel.

But the illusion soon ends.

Last year the Soviets distributed the extra rations, including butter and real coffee, a couple of weeks before the fair opened.

For the next three months however Leipzig was not issued a single rationed item. There was no explanation.

Other cities have had similar experiences with Soviet munificence.

Dresden, for one, received an extra Christmas ration of chickens. Several days later the Soviets discovered that chickens were diseased and ordered them all destroyed.

Lack of food and warmth throughout the area has had the natural result in a tremendous upsurge of sickness—particularly tuberculosis.

But medicines are for the most part unprocurable. Penicillin must be smuggled in from West Germany, and the newer drugs are completely unknown.

Hospitals are overcrowded. Tuberculosis sanitariums are unable to keep patients for more than four weeks, no matter how ill.

The suicide rate too has climbed appallingly—but the Soviets have forbidden all mention of it.

In the center of Leipzig stands an enormous neon-lighted Soviet "sales-house"—for Russians only.

Daily Soviet officers and their wives drive in and load up with a staggering variety of goods—all of them German produced.

On a larger scale the Soviets are using most East German raw materials ad finished products—coal, steel, lumber, automobiles—for a very lucrative foreign trade.

The profits are retained by the Soviets, and the German producer receives barely enough for the materials.

Added to this, the Soviets have stripped their zone of factory after factory with not the slightest war potential.

The total of this looting is estimated by both German and Allied sources at close to a billion dollars.

Today a third wave of dismantling has begun. In every railroad yard stand long lines of flatcars loaded with wood for crating machines and equipment.

Perhaps the grimmest mockery in East Germany is the newly-introduced two-year plan, designed to raise production by at least 50 per cent by the end of 1950.

Huge banners in every city and village proclaim the plan as the guarantee of a better life for every German.

But the East Germans know all too well that despite their work no better life has come their way thus far—and they have scant hope of any in the future.

Tomorrow: The story of the Soviet uranium mines.

Never before do so many owe so much to those little Want Ads.

established, it will mean the postponement of the opening of schools for the half-day periods.

It was reported by Mr. Snyder that James Dooley has been engaged as a special officer to succeed Robert Rue, who resigned. It was also reported that Charles Waters is substituting as janitor at the Bath street building during the illness of George McEnen.

The board approved, subject to the okey of the state authorities, the employment of a supervisor by the Bristol Branch of the Bucks Co. Association for the Blind, in the Beaver street workshop. This is considered under the adult extension education program, and the board is reimbursed by the state for the expenditure.

Approval was given for a change in the hand-writing system employed in the schools.

An X-ray clinic will be set up in the schools on April 4th for the X-raying of both children and adults. The board authorized the hiring of buses to transfer small children from other buildings to the high school gymnasium where the clinic will be held. The clinic will be directed by the Bucks Co. Tuberculosis Society.

Approval was given for Lester Michael, driver training instructor at the high school, to attend night school at Norristown to gain three additional credits to qualify as a full-fledged driver-trainer instructor. This will eliminate the necessity for Mr. Michael to attend summer school for this purpose. The night course is conducted by Temple University, Phila.

O'Donnell was walking across the highway towards his lane of traffic, and as soon as he saw him he applied the brakes, but the man kept coming so he turned to the left. He estimated the car's speed at about 35 miles per hour.

One of the jurors asked if he had turned his car to the left more, would he have missed the man. He replied that if he had had more time he believed that he would. He said he swerved about 25 feet. He said that O'Donnell was walking into the right hand lane of the highway when he first saw him. Coroner Rigby then asked what position the body was lying. Brucks replied the man's head was towards the center lane and his feet were on the shoulder of the highway.

"Are you sure you saw him 20 or 25 feet before you struck him, or could it have been less?" asked the coroner. Brucks replied it all happened so fast that he could not be sure. One of the jurors asked if it did not leave a very big dent in the fender. He replied that it did not leave a very big dent. Coroner Rigby asked how far his low beams showed. He replied about 35 feet. The Coroner then asked what he did when he first saw the man. He replied that he applied the brakes and thought the man would turn back, but he kept walking straight across, so he turned to the left. Coroner Rigby asked if the body came up and hit the windshield. He replied that it did, that it came up over the hood and fell over the right side of the car.

The jury, consisting of Ralph Ratcliffe, John C. Johnson, Joseph Elberson, Donald B. Moyer, George W. Bruden and Kenneth Brandau, were out for about half an hour, and brought in the following verdict: "We, the jury, from the evidence submitted, find that Hugh O'Donnell, on September 28th, 1948, died in Harriman Hospital from traumatic shock as the result of injuries sustained by being struck by a motor vehicle which was operated by John Brucks, Jr., of Cornwells Heights, at Croydon on Route 13, on September 24th, 1948. We find from the evidence submitted that John Brucks, Jr., was not criminally negligent in the operation of his motor vehicle, and we hereby exonerate him from the charge of involuntary manslaughter."

Plan To Advance Music In Schools

vancement of music in the schools of Bucks County. They are: (1) the attitude of academic teachers toward music, (2) the methods of scheduling music classes and rehearsals, (3) the lack of teaching equipment, (4) poor physical facilities (room space, storage space, etc.) and (5) the lack of qualified teachers to carry on Instrumental instruction beyond the initial stage.

The association is also planning to visit the schools of Elizabeth, N. J., during the Schoolmen's Week to observe the music department there.

The association has decided to form a permanent organization which will meet four times each year. A constitution committee has been appointed and the first meeting for next year will be September 21st.

The music educators' Association is planning a dinner meeting in April at which a prominent music educator of this state will be guest speaker.

"I will sing of the mercies of the Lord." (Psalm 89: 1)

Mercies. What are they? Mercy. What do we mean? Are we thinking of pity? Ah, no. Something infinitely richer and deeper than that. You may have pity on the blind or crippled beggar; but there is no mercy involved in that act. Mercy, is pity on the offender; pity for the one who injured you, pity for the sinner. The mercy of God is compassion for those who grieved, and sinned against Him. "Father forgive them"; the prayer of Jesus on the cross, for His murderers; was mercy exemplified. "While we were yet sinners Christ died for us." That is His mercy. You wonder that we sing about it? The wonder would be if we didn't.

"Praise be to Jesus His mercy is free; mercy is boundless and free."

Grant to us Thy mercy, O God, for Thy Son our Lord Jesus Christ's sake. Amen.

BRISTOL HIGH AND UPPER MERION IN SEE-SAW AFFAIR

BRIDGEPORT, Pa., Feb. 2—Bristol High and Upper Merion High produced all the thrills possible in a basketball game last night with the lead changing hands numerous times before the final victor decided.

Paul McKernan's field goal in the last 20 seconds gave the Upper Merion quintet a one-point triumph over the Warriors, final score being 56-55.

McKernan's fielder came after "Ducky" DeLong had dropped in a free shot to even the count at 54-54 with 30 seconds to go. However, in the last seven seconds, "Jim" Sottille was fouled while in the act of shooting and awarded two throws. He made the first shot to reduce the lead to 56-55 but missed the second. Several Bristol players tried to tap in the missed foul but failed, McKernan getting possession and being fouled. He chose to waive the foul and freeze the ball for the remaining seconds of the tilt.

An example of the type of closeness in the game is the fact that the score was tied on 13 occasions. Seven times Bristol took the lead away from the Spartans while on eight occasions, Coach Tom Campion's boys wrested the lead from Bristol.

At no time during the entire fracas did Bristol have more than a four point edge over their opponents. Twice Upper Merion had 6-point leads only to have Coach Jerry Bloom's proteges come from behind to knot the count and forge ahead.

The small Upper Merion court made both zone defenses appear ragged. Upper Merion did most of its scoring from side court while Bristol's registering of field goals were closer to the baskets.

"Jim" Sottille and "Ducky" DeLong piled in the points for the losers with Bielecki, Marshall and Konefal doing most of the passing. Sottille had 23 points.

Gordon Collins' 20 points made him high for Coach Campion's team while McKernan ended up with 15 points. But the tower of Upper Merion's strength was in the fine ball handling of "Franny" Murphy. Murphy's faking and long distance shooting pulled the Bristol defense out of position on several occasions. He shook the cords for 13 points on six beautiful shots and a foul.

Bristol had a 19-18 edge at the end of the first quarter with the score being tied at 2-2, 4-4, 6-6, 8-8, 10-10, 12-12. On field goals by Konefal and Bielecki Bristol at one time had a 17-13 margin. But Malloy's set shot after a field goal by Murphy and foul by McKernan gave the Spartans the lead, 18-17. Marshall's "steal" of the sphere which was converted into a two-pointer, gave Bristol the lead.

Two fielders by Murphy and Collins put Upper Merion ahead again but three points by Sottille tied it at 22-22. Bristol began to trail and Upper Merion forged in front, 30-24, for the largest lead of the game. At the half-way mark, Bristol made a spurt and cut the edge to 32-29.

Upper Merion kept its three-point lead until mid-way in the third quarter when they increased it to 41-35. But again the Warriors spurted and a pair of fouls and fielder by Konefal after DeLong tapped one in, tied the count at 41-41. Collins' side shot put the Purple and Gold ahead but on a fine pass from Bielecki, Sottille scored to tie the count at the quarter, 43-43.

Bristol missed a chance to take the lead at the start of the final quarter when six shots under the basket were missed after Konefal failed at a foul conversion. However, DeLong took a rebound for a score and Bristol was in front, 45-43. Murphy tied it and Sottille's foul put Bristol one point to the good. Malloy's fielder gave Upper Merion a one-point lead and McKernan made it three. Bielecki scored for Bristol. With less than two minutes to play, Sottille's twin-pointer put Bristol ahead, 53-51, but on a rebound, Collins tied it at 53-53. The dramatic finish followed.

he said Dunn asked him: "Did I hit someone?"

Foose took Dunn back to the accident scene and placed him in the custody of Patrolman John W. Johnson, of the Morrisville police.

Meanwhile, W. Milton Reed had picked up Mrs. Shartzer and her daughter from the sidewalk and taken them into his house. Mrs. Foose called for the Union Fire Co. ambulance and the injured persons were taken home. Both appeared stunned.

Adams and his son were shaken up, but refused medical attention. Dr. Cohen said the Shartzers suffered severe shock and head and body bruises.

40 'n' 8 Locomotive To Meet "Thank You" Ship

Tomorrow morning members of Bucks Voiture 40 'n' 8, will start a run out of Bristol from the Bracken Post Home, aboard the Voiture locomotive eastbound for New York, N. Y. The locomotive will be manned by a crew of six, recruited from Bristol and elsewhere in the county.

The group is going to drive to New York city hall where they will join other similar groups from a radius of 100 miles, for a parade down Broadway to meet the "Thank You" Ship arriving from France.

The "Thank You" Ship is an appreciation from France for the Friendship Train sent abroad last year with donated supplies for hungry Europeans.

The proud, flag-bedecked French freighter sailed into New York today carrying the "Gratitude Train" from the people of France in thanks to America for the U. S. Freedom Train. New York Harbor burst into a noisy welcome to greet the ship. The French "Gratitude Train" consists of 49 cars loaded with gifts for each state of the union, and one for Hawaii.

FIFTH WARD CLIMBS OUT OF CELLAR BY FRANKLIN DEFEAT

The Fifth Ward Sporting Club climbed out of the cellar of the Bristol Basketball League by handing the Franklin A. C. its fifth straight loss on the Bristol high school floor. Final score was: Fifth Ward, 66; Franklin, 53.

A last period slurge by the Warders netted them the triumph. The count was deadlocked 43-43 when the period started. Fifth Ward scored 23 points in the last ten minutes while holding the Franks to 10.

The Warders exhibited fine passing during the games, especially in the final quarter.

Dick Mingin and Joe Potena accounted for 18 and 17 points, respectively, for the winners while "Jim" Ransom and Caucci had 24 points between them for Franklin.
